Owen Burns spent Sunday in Springfield.

Hon. D. M. Barrett has been in town for several days.

Mr. Wilfred Pavey, of Leesburg, was in this place last Sunday.

Miss Betty O'Leigh was visiting Mrs. Cyrus Newby last week.

Charles F. Welmer, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with his mother here.

Mr. Wm. Newell and son Frank were in town last week, the guest of friends.

Rev. S. D. Clayton, of Madisonville, Ill., dined at the hotel Sunday morning.

Misses Leon Walker and Fannie McKeehan spent Saturday and Sunday in Greenfield.

Dr. George Conard, of New Vienna, was present at the funeral of James S. Trimble yesterday.

Mr. Joseph Emery, Jr., of this city, spent last Sunday with his parents, near Sugar-tree Ridge.

Mrs. Anna Donovan, nee Anna Guttridge, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting relatives and friends here.

A large number of excursionists took the benefit of the low rates to Cincinnati yesterday morning.

The term for which Mr. J. W. Patterson was appointed postmaster, expires the first of next month.

Several of our young folks attended the Leesburg Commencement exercises last Thursday night.

Low—A buggy lamp, early in April. The finder will greatly oblige by leaving the same at News office.

Geo. E. Barrow and H. B. Lindley, of New Vienna, were in attendance at Court several days last week.

Dr. L. L. Mahan, who has been visiting his family here for the past two weeks, returned home Monday morning.

Frank Wilson Jr., Ed Norton, Wm. Holt, Frank Wilson and son Frank, of Greenfield, were in town Monday.

Mr. J. Hilliard, Leesburg's venerable Deacon and defender of the faith, smiled upon the city during the rain on Monday.

Mrs. Moore, of Portsmouth, O., and Miss Susie Eddy, of Newark, O., are visiting Mrs. Jos. H. Richards, at "Forest Lawn."

The term of school at Brook's School House, taught by Mr. O. B. Maddox, closed last Friday with appropriate and interesting exercises.

The scholars of Mr. Kay's room enjoyed a picnic on last Thursday afternoon. Miss McKeehan's room followed suit on Friday afternoon.

Miss Gertrude Gardner, of Washington, C. H., spent the latter part of last week visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow, of this city.

Rev. Elijah Thurman, of Kentucky Conference, died on the 18th ult., aged 60 years. He was the oldest son of the late Joel Thurman, of Paint township, and brother of Mrs. Betheun Blumer, deceased.

The graduating class of the College, accompanied by Messrs. McNary, Calvert, Wiggins and Glascock, spent Sabbath afternoon very pleasantly in New Market, the guest of a member of their class, Miss Fannie Hulse.

S. A. DeLa, of New Vienna, is our regularly authorized agent to receive subscriptions in that locality. Our Vienna department contains all the news items of that locality, and the News will be a welcome visitor to persons living in north Highland and south Clinton. Let everyone subscribe.

Urie Sloane, of Hillsboro, has been secured on the Thompson case. He was in this place on Wednesday, consulting with the attorneys in the case. Mr. Sloane is employed in four of the leading criminal cases in his part of the country, and is taking rank as one of Ohio's ablest criminal attorneys.—The People's Defender.

Mr. Bert Mitchell, of Chillicothe, in company with Miss Ora M. Brown, of New Vienna, spent Sabbath in this city. The many friends of Mr. Mitchell at this place will be glad to know that he has nearly recovered from the effects of the severe fall received at the giving away of the grand stand at the Chillicothe base ball grounds.

Hon. Marsh Williams, of Washington, C. H., has been appointed to assist the prosecution in the Harris murder trial. What's the matter with the Hillsboro lawyers?—Chillicothe Leader.

It does seem a little strange that among all the able members of the Highland County bar, that no one can be found of sufficient ability to cope with Mr. Sloane in this case, and the money of the county must be paid out to foreign attorneys.

Hanson L. Penn showed up in Court Monday morning, and expressed some surprise that his bond had been forfeited. It is due Mr. Penn to say that he was not aware of the fact that his case was set for hearing, Monday, May 12th, for the reason that he had changed his residence recently from Lexington, Ky., to Cincinnati, O., and the telegrams and letters of his attorneys failed to reach him until last Sunday, upon receipt of which he came to Hillsboro on first train.

H. F. C. The young ladies comprising the geology classes, connected with the College, for several successive years, are greatly indebted to Mr. Sawyer for giving them access to his choice collection of specimens. One of these opportunities was utilized very pleasantly last week. By the aid of a very fine microscope, the marvellously delicate work of Nature's deft fingers was apparent.

A feeling akin to reverence was awakened by the study of the story relics of the life which existed measured centuries back, before the human story began; and yet to the thoughtful student the true relation between the earth and the "coming man" is unfolded as "the kingdom which waited for its king."

Sudden Death of Col. Jas. S. Trimble. James S. Trimble, son of the late J. M. Trimble, died at the old family residence on Court street, Saturday night, May 17th, and was buried Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the M. E. Church. Services were conducted by Highland Lodge F. and A. M., Highland Commandery acting as escort, of which he was a prominent member. Mr. Trimble had been in ill health for sometime past and had but recently returned from a several months' visit to the Pacific coast. His illness was not considered dangerous but he was suddenly taken worse last Friday when his case assumed alarming symptoms of brain disease. Dr. Whitaker, the eminent physician, of Cincinnati, was summoned on Saturday and pronounced the disease paralysis of the brain. He lingered until about 10 o'clock Saturday night.

The deceased was about 50 years old, unmarried, and was a genial gentleman and a general favorite with all who knew him. His sudden and untimely death will be sincerely regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

YOK POPULI.

The Anti-Saloon Ordinance to be Submitted to a Vote of the People.

At the adjourned meeting of Council Monday night, the Anti-Saloon ordinance was taken up and read the second time, a motion was then made to suspend the rules and put it on its third reading, which was lost. Councilman Mather then presented a written pledge which was signed by all the Councilmen to vote for the ordinance in case a majority of the people should vote for it at a special election to be called for that purpose.

A motion then prevailed to fix the time and mode of holding the election at the next regular meeting of Council. This action we think will be generally approved by our citizens, as it will settle the question by the voice of the people, which ought to be satisfactory to all concerned.

We understand the petition for the passage of the ordinance has been signed by nearly 300 voters and 600 ladies over 18,

7th Murphy Anniversary.

TWO LARGE MEETINGS LAST SUNDAY AT CITY HALL AND THE M. E. CHURCH.

Addresses by Revs. S. D. Clayton, M. Redkey, and W. J. McNurely.

The seventh anniversary of the Murphy Temperance movement in this place, was appropriately observed last Sunday. A large meeting was held at City Hall in the afternoon, Mr. Lewis Leitch acting as chairman. The meeting was opened by singing by the choir, reading of the Scripture by Rev. M. Redkey, of Leesburg, and prayer by Rev. S. D. Clayton, of Madisonville, formerly Presiding Elder of this district. Mr. Clayton then made an able and earnest address, which was listened to with great attention by the large audience. In the course of his remarks he referred especially to the Crusade, and spoke of his connection with that movement, he having been one of the ministers on the platform at Dr. Dio Lewis's meeting which started the movement. He had often heard the Crusade denounced as a failure, but he believed it to be the greatest success in the whole history of the temperance cause. Its influence had been felt throughout the whole civilized world and it had made the name of Hillsboro everywhere known and respected. He referred to the triumph of Prohibition in Kansas and said it would yet triumph in Ohio. He was thoroughly convinced the Second Amendment was actually carried last fall, but that the votes were not fairly counted. The people would demand that it be submitted again and next time they would see that there was a fair count.

At the close of Mr. Clayton's address Rev. M. Redkey was introduced, and held the close attention of the audience for nearly an hour discussing the various phases of the temperance movement, in an able and interesting manner.

He referred to the effort now being made in Hillsboro to close the saloons under the College Law of the State, and said he hoped our citizens would not let such an opportunity pass unimproved for taking an advanced step in the cause of temperance. He did not believe the closing of the saloons would injure the business of the town, nor that more liquor would be sold outside the corporation limits if the saloons in town were closed. He read an article from the Western Christian Advocate stating that the experiment was tried in Felicity, Clermont county, under the McCumminsville section of the Scott Law. The result proved that only one keg of beer was sold outside of the town where four-five had been previously sold within the corporation limits. He hoped our town Council would pass the ordinance unanimously, and thus set a good example to every other town in the State. Mr. Redkey's able and earnest address produced an excellent impression and his remarks were frequently applauded.

At its close the chair announced that a union meeting would be held in the M. E. Church at eight. The meeting then adjourned.

The night meeting was also large, the church being filled with an attentive and intelligent audience. Rev. Mr. Clayton made a very able address, devoting special attention to the anti-saloon ordinance, and urging upon every citizen the duty of signing the petition in its favor. He was especially severe upon business men who were deterred from signing the petition by fears of losing a little patronage, and hoped they would take a higher view of their obligations as Christians, as lovers of their race, and as good citizens desirous of promoting the happiness and prosperity of the community.

Rev. W. J. McNurely followed Mr. Clayton, and also made a strong and effective argument in favor of the anti-saloon ordinance. He appealed to every citizen who had not yet signed the petition to do so without delay, and hoped there would be found a decisive majority in its favor.

At the close of Mr. McNurely's address, petitions were circulated in the audience and quite a number of signatures obtained. A collection was taken up to defray expenses, and the audience was dismissed with the doxology and benediction.

MEMORIAL DAY.

MODEL CITY MILLS.

Machinery All New and Thoroughly Tested.

NONE BUT FIRST-CLASS MILLERS EMPLOYED.

All Flour made by the New Roller Process.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Advantages of the Modern Process.

The above mills have been using the new patent Roller process for nearly a year past, and have thoroughly tested it, and become satisfied of its great advantages, both to manufacturer and consumer. Its superiority to the old process is now so generally admitted, that first-class mills everywhere are taking out their old machinery and putting in the new.

Messrs. Hixson & Cowman, the proprietors, have spared no pains or expense in fitting up their mill in the most thorough and complete manner, and Mr. Cowman, having had several years experience in the modern process, the result has proved entirely satisfactory, both to themselves and their numerous customers. Every home-keeper who has used the flour made by the new process will testify that it produces bread of a far superior quality.

The advantages of the new roller process are so well described and explained in the following article that we copy it for the benefit of our readers. It is extracted from an article in Lippincott's Monthly for January last entitled "A Floury City," referring to Minneapolis, the greatest flour manufacturing city in the world.

"Many people have the impression that the patent flour of to-day, like the so-called best flour of the old process, is deficient in the popular and the other nutritious elements; but this is the reverse of the truth. The great end of modern milling is to retain the better elements of the wheat in the flour. The impression referred to arose from the fact that in the old mills, before the days of purifiers, the wheat was wholly ground at one operation, bran, dirt and all, it came before bolting, one was reasonably sure of getting what good there was in it, and of weening his peck of dirt besides. When bolted, what happened to be fine and white was sold as 'superfine flour.' But this was mostly starch. The portion that was bolted out—coarse refuse from a mercantile standpoint—was sold as middlings for cattle, or was imperfectly worked over and put into cheaper grades of flour. It was this part of the grain, the 'middlings,' that the new process was particularly devised to treat, because here is found the very life of the wheat. Formerly the wheat was only winnowed before grinding. Now it is scoured, brushed and polished by compressed and expensive machinery. Instead of being crushed fine at one grinding, it is slightly broken many times by means of rolls, in order to loosen the dirt which remains in the crosses despite the most careful cleaning, and to leave the bran in large flakes, from which the flour is gradually worked off. By the old system, the phosphorus—called by the old alchemists 'The Son of Satan'—was bolted out. It exists in the wheat-kernel mainly in the form of phosphate of lime, the great bone and muscle maker. Phosphorus is so necessary to the working of the brain that these same alchemists had an axiom, 'No phosphorus, no brains.' Every time the wheat passes between a pair of rolls it is at once carried to separators and purifiers, where the different kinds of middlings are separated, and dirt which has been released is blown out. Thus it is gradually reduced to flour.

(Gluten is an element of great importance in flour, on account both of its nutritive value as a food, and of the 'strength' which it imparts to the flour. It is gluten that makes the dough so tenacious, and that furnishes the strength to raise the bread and to keep it from falling during the baking process; consequently the value of wheat is gauged by the quality and amount of gluten which it contains.)

Mills usually make three grades of flour—the patent, the bakers, and the low grade. The best patent flour is rather coarse and gritty, and sharp and rough. This roughness is what gives the flour life, and makes bread light and white.

The third grade of flour made under the roller system compares favorably with the first grade made by the best mills under the old process, while the first grade leads them so far that there can be no comparison."
